

Pledging allegiance to the Stars and Stripes at the fete of the Public Schools Athletic League, which filled the meadow in Central Park with children. This was the most impressive ceremony of a gala May day.

Photo Herald Staff Photographer.

Winding the Maypole, one of the prettiest exercises of the Public Schools Athletic League fete, and one which required a lot of skill.

Photo Herald Staff Photographer.

New photograph of Mrs. Lillian Moller Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., who is far more proud of her ten children than the many honors that she has won as an author and by scientific attainments. She is a graduate of the University of California, and also has a Ph. D. degree, which she received at Brown. Her husband is a world known consulting engineer.

Copyright, Paul Thompson.

Happy girls carrying their Maypole from the field after the May dance at the Public Schools Athletic League fete in Central Park recently.

Photo Herald Staff Photographer.

Richard Washburn Child, lawyer and literary man, recently chosen by President Harding to be Ambassador to Italy. Mr. Child, who now lives in Washington, was born in Worcester, Mass.

Copyright Harris & Ewing.

George W. Aldridge, new Collector of the Port of New York, at his desk in the office where he succeeds Byron R. Newton.

Photo Underwood & Underwood.